INANIWA OGAWA UDON

Made in Japan

Handmade artisan udon from Ogawa, Japan. Made with only flour, water and salt, with no additives and no artificial oil.

Inaniwa Ogawa Udon is crafted using a meticulous, centuries-old technique once reserved exclusively for Japanese Shoguns. Unlike standard thick udon, these premium noodles undergo a painstaking three-day hand-stretching process using only the finest wheat and pure spring water. This artisan method requires a rhythm and dedication that machines simply cannot replicate, ensuring every batch honors Japan's richest culinary traditions.

This time-honored process creates microscopic air bubbles within the delicate, thin strands, giving the udon its signature chewy yet profoundly smooth texture. Whether served refreshingly cold on a warm afternoon or swimming in a rich, warm dashi broth, Inaniwa Ogawa Udon glides effortlessly across the palate. It is more than just a meal; it is an invitation to bring the quiet, authentic luxury of northern Japan directly to your dining table.

For generations, Marujyu has been the quietly revered secret of Japanese kitchens, originating from the rich, agricultural heartland of Yamagata Prefecture. Far beyond a standard table condiment, Marujyu is celebrated for mastering the art of premium seasoned soy sauce.
